Trainee News

New Fellows

Congratulations to the following trainees who have completed their requirements and have been admitted to Fellowship since the last Trainee Newsletter:

By examination

Dr Nicholas Christelis, FANZCA (Vic)

This takes the total number of admissions to 308.

Launch of the new ANZCA and FPM website

The new ANZCA and FPM websites went live on 11 September and includes updated features and events, and more user-friendly navigation options. There have been some minor initial problems reported with accessing certain areas of the FPM website – these are currently being addressed and should be rectified shortly.

Please ensure you no longer visit the old site address at www.anzca.edu.au/fpm. This may result in some content not displaying correctly.

Visit the new-look FPM website at www.fpm.anzca.edu.au

Video Podcasting

The Faculty of Pain Medicine, in conjunction with the College's Education Development Unit is pleased to announce the introduction of educational video podcasts for FPM trainees and Fellows.

We are very excited to be able to present to trainees Dr Meredith Craigie's long-awaited release- FPM Examination and Case Report.

This podcast covers the important features of both the Clinical Case Study and in particular the Examination process.

Other podcasts also available now:

Prof Spencer Liu - Postoperative Pain Management and Outcomes

Prof You Wan - Treating acute pain: the wrath of peripheral firings

Although the podcasts have been tailored to suit FPM specialists, the material presented may also be of interest to the wider ANZCA community. Visit the website for more podcast and e-learning information.

Training Unit Accreditation

Accreditations

Following successful reviews, St Vincent's Hospital Sydney, Prince of Wales Hospital and Singapore General Hospital were re-accredited for pain medicine training.

Review of PM2

A sub-committee of the Training Unit Accreditation Committee is progressing a proposal to significantly revise Faculty Professional Document PM2, Guidelines for Units Offering Training in Multidisciplinary Pain Medicine to include recognition of Tier 2 hospitals. Tier 2 Units are classified as centres that cannot fully meet the current requirements to deliver comprehensive pain medicine training, but are still regarded as having very good facilities, suitable for delivering partial training.

More information will be provided as the sub-committee progresses.

Painaustralia

Painaustralia has developed the Painaustralia Newsletter with the aim of keeping members informed of developments in implementing the National Pain Strategy and to alert them to events and activities. Please click here to read the latest news.

Faculty News

Inaugural ANZCA Media Award

Media in Australia and New Zealand have been invited to participate in the inaugural ANZCA Media Award. A prize of $5000 will be awarded for the best news story or feature about anaesthesia or pain medicine that appears in print, on radio, on television or online in 2011. Entries will be judged on their originality and the impact they may have had in giving the community a better understanding of anaesthesia or pain medicine. For more information, click here.

Medicare Locals- Implications for Community Pain Services

The Australian Government's primary health care reform is now underway with the launch on 1 July of 19 Medicare Locals – the first of a total of 62 to be formed nationally. The reforms are designed to make it easier for patients to access the services they need, by better linking GPs, nursing and other health professionals, aged care and eventually hospitals within local communities. The advent of Medicare Locals provides opportunities to improve management of pain at a local level.
