

Pain Specialist – Anaesthesia and Pain Medicine

Latrobe Regional Hospital (LRH) is a 289 bed hospital and is the largest regional hospital in Gippsland providing a comprehensive range of health care services including acute, sub-acute, ambulatory care, aged and mental health care services along with community based mental health services.

An excellent opportunity exists for a Pain Specialist or a Senior Medical Officer to provide assessment and management of patients with chronic pain within a Sub-Acute Ambulatory Care Services framework at Latrobe Regional Hospital, Traralgon, for 1 day per fortnight.

The program has recently undergone some exciting development and there is currently an opportunity for an enthusiastic Pain Specialist or Senior Medical Officer to join our highly skilled multidisciplinary team and help deliver exceptional assessment and treatment to our chronic pain sufferers. Applications would be welcome from medical practitioners with a background in Anaesthesia, Medicine, Surgery, General Practice, Psychiatry or Rehabilitation who have training or experience in complex or chronic pain management.

Further information in relation to this position can be obtained by contacting Dr Simon Fraser, on telephone (03) 5173 8823 or sfraser@lrh.com.au

The successful applicant will be required to apply for and satisfactorily obtain a National Police Check and a Working with Children Check.

Latrobe Regional Hospital supports Equal Employment Opportunity by recognising and valuing inclusion and diversity. The hospital encourages all people from different cultures and backgrounds to apply for our advertised positions.

Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander descent applicants are encouraged to apply. Successful appointment will be based on merit and satisfactorily passing a Police Check and Working With Children's Check. LRH's Koori Health Liaison Officer is available to assist on (03) 5173 8831.
